The number of the commercial accounts lost to identity theft is about 165,000,000. The possibility of losing confidential data is not doubted. To protect the valuable data, it is necessary to encrypt. There are two ways to encrypt data. The first way is to use a complex algorithm and implement it with a complex encryption program. For the data protection, it is complex, it requires too many parameters to specify and, but it is the most secure way. However, it needs a high cost and time to implement. Another way is to use a simple algorithm to ensure that data are not easily recovered by a person who is given by chance. However, it needs a complex security hardware. This is similar to the commonly used deadbolt lock or combination lock. Unfortunately, two encryption methods of our own developed AnyEncrypt cannot satisfy any of the requirements. Such as: Both the key and algorithm used are simple. The security is not very strong. The encryption mode is a simple encryption algorithm. It requires much time and much cost in implementation. Netflix reported on Tuesday that its net income for its third quarter rose 42 percent, and that worldwide subscribers have now reached 47.7 million people. The announcement follows strong performances for the streaming service in the U.S. in recent months. The U.S. streaming service gained 16 million new international subscribers during the quarter, bringing the number of subscribers to 83.5 million, an 83 percent increase over the same period last year. The company says the expansion has been driven by gains in Latin America and the U.K. Netflix CFO David Wells said in a post-earnings call that the U.S. is the company's growth story. He added that the success the company has seen in its international play has led to growing confidence in the company as an investment vehicle. "We are very pleased to see that international subscriber additions in Q3 increased to a new high and we believe this is the beginning of what we expect to be a global trend," said Wells. Netflix beat Wall Street estimates for the quarter, reporting a net income of $198 million on $3.1 billion in revenue, up from $145 million on $2.4 billion in revenue in the same period last year. Shares of the company rose 4.5 percent in after-hours trading following the earnings release. The results included a 7 percent increase in quarterly costs, largely due to increased content spending and marketing programs, and an increase in average revenue per user to $11.93 from $11.32. Commenting on the rise in international subscribers, Netflix CEO Reed Hastings said: "We do love that subscriber base. That's great news for us."
