Reminder for Outlook Cracked Version is a free add-in for Microsoft Outlook that is extremely useful as it reminds you to attach your files and also gives you options to control when that should happen. It allows you to select a number of files that should be attached to every email you send. It will also let you customize the text you will see at the beginning of your message to remind you that the attachment is coming along with it. Simply place a check on the box in the Add-in section of Outlook to enable it to work. Also, if you want to add an attachment, open your email and click the "More Options..." button. For instance, suppose you want to attach a contract before sending your email. You click the "More Options..." button in the email and a window that looks like a dialog will pop up. In this dialog you will see a list of all your files and you can drag and drop them directly into the box next to the "Attach a file" field. The text you write in the text box will appear at the beginning of every message you send. What you choose to write here will appear in the "Attaching..." window that will appear as soon as you try to send your email. Once you attach the file, you will see that the text you wrote appears in the box. This message will disappear when you press the "Send" button. If you want to attach another file, all you need to do is to open your email again, click the "More Options..."

---

button and select a file to add. After that you will see another box in which you can write the text you want to appear in the email and you can also drag and drop files directly from the "More Options..." window. To disable the reminder text, all you need to do is to click the "Settings..." button in the "More Options..." window. You will then see a window where you can set a number of files you want to attach to your email messages. Also, you can choose the text you want to appear in the email and drag and drop files into the "Attach files" box in the "More Options..." window. Once you attach the files, the message will be sent and you will see that the text that you wrote appears. Click the

---

"Settings..." button and you can then choose the files that should be attached to every message you send.

These files

Reminder for Outlook is a lightweight and very easy to use piece of software which functions as an addin, alerting you whenever you set out to send a message without having added an aforementioned attachment. Ribbon-

---

integrated tool Following a brief and uneventful installation process, you will be able to find the utility in a ‘Topalt Add-ins’ tab, in the ribbon of Microsoft Outlook, for quick access. It features a button that you can use to enable or disable the popup window displayed by Topalt Attachment Reminder for Outlook, as well as a ‘Settings’ section to allow you to set the trigger words yourself. Always remember to attach your files to Outlook emails The tool can prove quite helpful, as everyone has been, at least once, in a situation where you carefully crafted an email, mentioning the presence of an attachment, but out of hurry or forgetfulness, you did not actually attach the file you intended to send. This is usually followed by an apologetic message along with the initial document.

Topalt Attachment

Reminder for Outlook aims to spare you from the embarrassment by displaying a popup window informing you of the fact that you have spoken of attaching a file to your message, but never actually did so. This window is

displayed immediately after pressing the ‘Send’ button, temporarily pausing the process and allowing you to decide whether to dispatch the message as is, or return and attach the file. Topalt Attachment Reminder for Outlook comes with several built-in terms that will cause the popup dialog to be displayed, namely ‘attached’, ‘attachment’ or

‘attaching’, but you also have the option of inputting your own trigger words, whichever you think are most relevant for you. In addition, you can even set a number of attachments that are always to be sent with every email. Handy Outlook addin to remind you of your attachments To conclude, Topalt Attachment Reminder for

---

Outlook is an interesting and rather handy tool that aims to prevent you from ever forgetting about attaching your files to the email messages you send through Microsoft Outlook, by alerting you of their absence before sending it.
