Now that you are working with too much text to copy and paste it anywhere you want you can use this utility. It creates a new copy of the text you want. After the text is pasted it automatically closes, so you don't have to worry about having too much text in the clipboard. (This was tested with Windows 7.) Designed to help make your life easier, Clipboard Extender makes managing the contents of your computer clipboard significantly easier. In most cases, working with a computer's clipboard involves scrolling through hundreds or even thousands of items, and it's not a task that lends itself to efficiency. It's imperative that this work be made easy for you, since many users have to copy, paste or move many items into their programs or documents. Clipboard Extender makes this task far more bearable, because it allows you to highlight and move to and from the clipboard (or remote clipboard) as easily as you move your cursor. Clipboard Extender has been designed to be quickly and painlessly installed and set up. It is highly configurable as well, being completely themeable and intelligently re-sizable, so that you can work exactly the way you want without having to waste time fiddling with interface elements. No more popping up and toggling windows to find what you want on your clipboard - now it's just a double click away! This same functionality is also available to remote clipboard. The main window of the Clipboard Extender is split, with the right half being a live preview of your clipboard contents in the form of virtual buttons. You can scroll through the items therein as easily as with your mouse, and highlight individual items by double-clicking on them. This enables you to move to or copy one of the items, and of course perform as many additional operations on them as you want. In addition, if you need to copy or move more than one item, you can just click to "select all" them. There are numerous other controls included as well, such as logging, saving, restoring and configuring. It would be best, however, for you to actually test out what it is you want from this program. Default X file types is a collection that includes over 25 icons for your convenience.
