The thing is, you are bound to find one that fits your personality and your needs the best. If you want to know how to choose the right cell phone carrier for you, then here are some things to keep in mind. 1. Compare Plans What are you planning on using your mobile phone for? Are you planning on only using it for voice communication and not for text messaging and calls? If so, then you might want to choose your plan based on voice service. For example, if you and your family members are the ones that use your phone the most, then it's better to choose a plan that includes voice services and call minutes. If you are someone who sends texts and you don't want to spend a lot of money, then choose a plan that does not include voice minutes. 2. Consider Other Factors Just because you cannot afford a plan doesn't mean that you cannot do with one. While those with low budgets will not be able to purchase a plan that costs more than $40 a month, and there are plans that cost $5.00 a month, you can still choose a plan that suits your needs. For example, if you want to keep your bill a minimum, then choose a plan that includes only text and voice minutes. 3. Purchase a Plan That Suits Your Needs If you think that all plans include the same minutes, calls and texts, then think again. For example, if you want voice and text minutes and will use your phone to make calls and send texts more, then look for plans that include those services. If you just want to keep your bill a minimum, then it is okay to choose a plan that will cost you a few dollars. If you want to be able
