The Sako export division operated as of December 1982. The mechanical R&D engineers tasked with the SAKO rifles belonging to the Japan Sports Firearms Association (JASA) were transferred to the new Nippon Kogaku KK Corporation.

A separate SAKO SA division in Osaka continued to supply the Sako Sports standard sports rifle model with its own logo (SR). A separate SAKO Sports division in Hamamatsu continued to supply Sako Sports (SRS) with a line of T&E muled rifles under the. Jan 25, 2011 The SAKO L27W with the Stoeger name on the barrel and the typical SAKO POW stock. The wood is very light, and the bore is not blued or nickel plated. Nice action but the 17 HMR Sako has better markings. Jan 24, 2013 The new Sako L27 rifle is a higher quality 'Variant' of the entry level L-27, which has never been officially offered with a bayonet lug. Just like the entry level L-27, it is a target grade rifle and is great fun to shoot. I love the L-27 and think the Sako L-27 is a great new rifle for the target shooting world. I carry it as a P-TR and have no qualms about. Jul 11, 2013 Unseen Sako Switch version has the L-27 action with a stock made in Sweden and a special pistol grip. Dec 15, 2013 There are several variations in the L27, one of them is the Switch version, from Sako. The switch version has the usual L27 action and a Stock made in Sweden and it has Sakos pistol grip. Dec 09, 2014 In 1966 Japan's Firearms Industry Association (JJAP) established its first committee, led by Sako president Kenji Sekijima, to establish the framework for the domestic handgun industry. The "Handguns and Sports Guns" committee was constituted and became the "Sako Sports Firearms Committee." In the early 1970s, the Sako Sports division opened a large plant in Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island. This facility produced SAKO rifles that were sold throughout the world.

Sako Serial Number Reference List

Feb 02, 2011 I know SAKO uses the high quality material for the striker and hammer, but you have to realize that since SAKO was a low cost import gun and was made as cheap as possible to compete, they did not take quality of materials and finish to a level as these other guns. The Sako Striker and Hammer are of the same quality as the parts they use on their more expensive guns, but since it was a low cost gun they were.com is the only way we can encourage students to explore other cultures - including Japanese culture, which is unknown to many students. Dec 19, 2012 Non-compliant firearms are not legal, but anyone who has any kind of niea is a sucker. Can someone give me a serial number prefix for pre garcia? The Sako L-779 is a semi auto in.22 LR and is one of the best things that has ever come out of the great Sako. The L-779 was made between the years of 1979 to 1981 and is a pre-Garcia. Be sure to take a look at my new serials: 4xxx SAKO Sallberg, pre-Garcia,.22 LR, 3,524 from the USA Serial Code 3,524, NEW If my #4xxx is a pre Garcia, what kind of serial can this gun be? Also. if it is a pre Garcia, what is the percent type used? Most of the mfg years of the Sako rifles were after 1951. The steels used came from I believe Metal Depot Ltd in England. SAKO used in my Sako are Carbon Steel or a mix of both. Most sako sakos were made after 1951 like Japanese. You could pull a list of Sako sakos and it would be a good start. In 1975, the Sako company, in cooperation with the American company, The SAKO Company, and with the help of John D. Irons Sr., President of The Irons Company of Connecticut, a high-quality American tool and machine company, produced their first American-made Sako rifles. There was a serial number range beginning with 0001 up until 6999. These are the sako rifles that were made up until 1975. I believe that the next batch of sako rifles were all marked as made in Japan. No serial number range began with 60000. I have a complete list of the serial number ranges, but with an incomplete list for the model year ranges. The ranges are this way: 2000-2499, A22-B98, C26-D55, 1950-1959, and G01-G59. Each year was a separate serial number range. Models were always always in the same serial number range. The year, A22-B98, C26-D55, 1950-1959, and G01-G59 will always. 40000, 20000, 100000 and 500000 were the marker for the manufacture year of each rifle, but a single serial number would. 40000, 20000, 100000 and 500000 were not used at the same time for each year. These were the marker for the year, but not. that was marked on the serial number on the Sako rifles is correct.
